“MANUFACTURING CONSENT” featuring Noam Chomsky

The role of the media in a “democracy”.

'In this documentary, linguist and liberal political activist Noam Chomsky presents his thoughts on how the mass media works against democracy's best interests.

The corporations and investors controlling the outlets where most people get their news, he argues, selectively choose what to cover for reasons having to do with personal agendas and retaining power, rather than what's best for readers and viewers.'

We'll discuss how this influences climate reporting and how to be a well-informed citizen.

Join us for an hour of this revealing and enlightening film & 2 short clips, followed by discussion.
